2024-09-10

Four weeks in a month, seven days in a week. Each day is different, each day has its own aura. The installation consists of four identical sections, each section has seven identical slots with non-identical tinted plates in each of them symbolising weeks and days. Hence, the installation is called month. Each colored slab represents each day's energy and its emotion and how all of them together make something beautiful.
